

Sheathing the roof

Sunday, 10 December 2006

Last weekend we finished the last of the truss installations over the porch. What remained was some hand framing of the eaves which we finished this weekend. This hand framing finishes off the valley between the new kitchen roof and the existing garage roof. Once that was complete it was time for sheathing! Finally safe (mostly) from the snow!